'Are we nearly there yet?'

We didn't let a bit of drizzle stop us enjoying a busy day in Llandudno on Monday. Our Year 4 children boarded their coach for Wales with excitement and for some, the anticipation of their first day at the seaside. Of course, having spent two hours on the bus, we had to stretch our legs so what better than a run around on the beach? We all had lunch on the promenade and kept the very large seagulls at bay! One of our activities was to speak with passers-by, all of whom were very friendly, happy to talk to us and share just what had brought them to the seafront that day. We were pleased to have lots of compliments about how polite our children are. A stroll up the main street gave us the chance to look at the shops that are in a seaside town and of course chat to some more people! We spent some time learning and practising our skimming skills on the pebbled beach with lots of success and after emptying pockets of pebbles, we made our way to the beach to have a final run around before we boarded the bus back home. We were proud of our children for the manners with the public and how they embraced the day regardless of the sun not putting in an appearance!
